

Celebrating Divine Chocolate
by Esmee from Wrigton Primary School

The yellow ripe cocoa pods being sliced from the tree
Sharp machetes swinging through the trees
Prising apart the pod
Creamy white beads cascading out
The vibrant waft of chocolate.

Celebrating Divine Chocolate!

Made with love the cacao farmers grew me
Cloaking me in metallic gold and black wrappers
Fancy folding
The shiny reflection of my wrapper in the sun.

Celebrating Divine Chocolate!

The smiling child ripping open my wrapper
The sensation of melting chocolate
Its a Pa Pa Paa party in your mouth; a party for the farmer who gets his fair share of the money.

Lets celebrate Divine Chocolate.